A STORY OF THE BLACK POREST.

On a fine evening, in the Spring of 1830 a stranger, mounted or a noble-booking horse, passed slowly over the snow-white line stone road leading through the Black Pore-1

Madison, Wis., Oct. 19th. Here News:-We are still in Madison, enjoying its superb Indian summer; but shall remain here but a few days longer .--The weather is the finest we have ever seen at this time of the year-mercury standing yesterday, at 80 in the shade and to-day is warmer, yet the sun's rays being almost scoreling. We had a thunder shower a night or two since, though but little rain has fallen, and the scason is unusually dry throughout the State. The foliage is looking very finely, the trees are clothed with autumnal robes of every conceivable hue, presenting a very rich and beautiful appearance. The great number of trees and "groves, all of natural growth, is one of the most attractive features of the place.

The farmers are just now busy with their fall ploughing. A good farm here consists of about four hundred seres. The soil is rich, requiring no dressing, farmers using hind twenty years, merely changing the crop occasionally. Sweet potatoes are raised to some extent, though inferior in size and quality to those raised south.

The population here is rather floating, a good parl consisting of Norwegious and Germens: who, as a rule, are thrifty well-beliavel citizens, though perhaps our staid New Englanders would be somewhat shocked at the large quantity of lager bies construct by the latter class, and their disregard of the Balibath. This last, however, i in be said, not only of them, but of a large profortion of twestern people, who regard the day as a holiday, and keep it accordingly. lee cream, refreshments and lager bier saloons, 3 tobacconists' and other stores are kept open, base ball is played on the commons, steamboats are running with pleasure partie: i ma boats are out on the lake the same as on a week day.

The Wiscousin State University stands on the highest ground in the elly, from the the top of which is to had a magnificent vices of the lakes and surrounding country. The building is immense, the library large and the museum fine though young; it ranks with the first schools in the country.

The Soldier's Orphan's Home is an institution supported by the state, where all children of Wisconsin soldiers who were killed or died in the service, can find a good home and receive a good education. 'The bullding during the war was used as a hos pital for sick and wounded soldiers: "There are now about 200 children at the Home, from 5 to 15 years of age; most of them having mothers living, though not in circumstances to provide for them.

There are many places of interest here and the place is well worth visiting. It is 100 miles from Chicago by, rail, the road "lying across the prairies and through the rich rolling farm buids. The scenery is not as varied as in some parts of the state, but "Seldom has Madison, or in fact, Wis-consin, known a better time than the pres-ent. The past has been a sesson of unusual plenty, in the way of crops, and the autumates just what is needed for the securing mid marketing of these abundant productions of the earth. The weather is the most perfect Indian summer-indeed, it would, p erably well for the real summer. The farm-ers are busily engaged in the gathering for of their corn and potatoes, and in ploughing for the next year's crops. All are hap and contented with the results of the t հոր, չ year's labor, and make preparation for the next year with cheerful hearts and pleasant enumerances.

In this city, the people are equally busy, taking advantage of the pleasant weather in preparing for winter. Merer before have away heard in Medison the noise of the trower and the hummer more constantly than they are now heard. Merer was it more difficult. to procure a mechanic to do a small job. Never were these mechanics and laborers receiving better pay ; and nover was there a time when all classes had more reason for thankfulness than the present. It seems to us that it can be truly said that the good us that it can be truly said that the good time is not only 'coming,' but has actually 'come.'"

. The election is but two weeks off. Speak er Colfax addressed a large and enthusiastic mass meeting at the Capitol this week. He was rather lugise from continued speaking during the campaign, but otherwise was in good tring, spoke well and to the point.

After Jeaving here we shall visit Milwankee, Chiengo, Decroit and other cities on our route home. You shall hear of us from one of those places.

Jay Cook has written a long letter in exthanation and defence of the national banking system. He shows that for the $18,000, ounual interest which they recrite on the bonds deposited as the basis of circulation, they pay to the federal govriminent $20,813,000, and to the States $8,000,000, in laxes. Mr Cook thinks that no banking system has ever been devised, with so many checks upon the banks, and with so many guards and securities for the henchi of the people. The large profits which some of the banks have made during the war, corresponded with the profits of many other kinds of business, but under a settled condition of things, he anticipates a sud profit not above the average of seven per cent.

In Washington, she formed the acquainlance of Buron Holstein, of the Prussian Legation. The Baron, as the story goes, improved the acquaintance, and soon established all the relations of intimate riendship. He attended her at matinees and sofrees, and occasionally escerted her to the Senate, to hear the Senator speak. Summer became displeased, and wrote the Baron a note, which it is said contained a Baron a note, which it is said contained a sentence somewhat severely reflecting on his wife. The Baron replied, saying that he had been simply polite, and nothing had ever imprened which propriety or good laste would forbid. If that was not satisfactory, he would give blin such satisfactory, he would give blin such satisfaction as a man of honor demanded. Summer became good toward his wife, and the lady and Baron became recorded toward lady and Baron became reserved toward each other. Sumner wrote to Bismark re-questing the recall of the Baron, and Bis-mark complied. Mrs. Sumner became acgrand scale. THE INTRODUCTION OF ratived all remedies and health preparations from other countries.

In Russia, the custom regulation prohibits the niry of all remedies and health preparations from

In the Simmer of 1862 a dispatch from the High Court Marchal of the Property, the Count Schoraloff, was received by Mr. HOPP, Berlin, ordering several boxes of the MALT KNTRAIT E BNRAGS. The boxes were shipped, but Mr. Hoff was informed by the Guston House officer of the frontier between Prueels and Russla, that the entry of the Malt Extract was prohibited by two. Mr. Hoff sent a dispatch to Count Schovalor. The Huperor rece red Hoffs Malt Retract and Mr. Hoff, after a cheet period, the following dispatch:

BENNAMIN BUSTON. SECURE A POLICY

NORTH AMERICA LIFE INS. CO.,

I. Because it gives more Liberal Policies, than any other Companey. They are all nonfortelling and the contactible. It increase of the Army in those of percent at the inequal rates, with no independent in event of hostilities. It makes no its charge of a charge of a compation, not by TRAVEL or MERKEDENCE, at may access the year, in the United States or Europe

NEARLY A WORLD-WIDE POLICY.

It allows thirty days grace, on renewal payments and grants ucekly compensation to those injured by public travel.

It is Most Secure.

It makes special deposits in the Insurance Department of the State of New York, for which the State parameter the payment of the Policies, in case the Company should at any three fall to need to obligation. No other Company gives the assured such according or any-bling equivalent thereto. Think I wheat which is New Yorkers.

FIR. It is most economical. Its ratio of claims and expenses, last year, wa essitian that of any other Company in the United states, which had been in operation a full year. The earling in the hands of the Policy Holders the largest proportional sum for dividends.
